Art Unit: 3728

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 2-11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 2-10 all depend from canceled claim 1 and are indefinite.

In claim 11, line 3, "each computer" lacks antecedent basis for a computer per se. In line 5, "individual containers" is indefinite whether such is related to the previous defined "individual container", and "the pallet" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 15, line 4, there is no antecedent basis for "single container" and how such distinguishes from the previous defined "container".

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Reel et al. (4,790,431). Reel et al. disclose a complete computer system disposed in an individual container including a processor, a monitor, a printer and accessories.

Art Unit: 3728

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reel et al. (4,790,431) in view of Marti et al. (6,135,706). Reel et al. disclose a computer system disposed in an individual container including a processor, a monitor, a printer and accessories. Marti et al. disclose a method of shipping computer systems on pallets, including stacking individual containers (18) on a pallet (26) in an array. To provide individual containers such as that of Reel et al. in a pallet system such as disclosed by Marti et al. would have been obvious in order to advantageously transport plural containers, as suggested by Marti et al.. The exact array arrangement would be varied to different arrays without producing any new and unexpected result, and the height would be dependent on the size of the containers and pallet.

7. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

8. Claims 2-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 2-10 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,554,133. This is a double patenting rejection.

9. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

10. Claims 12-14 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 11 and 20-21, respectively of U.S. Patent No. 6,554,133. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the subject matter now claimed in claims 12-14 is encompassed by the subject matter already patented.

11. Claims 12-14 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 11 and 20-21, respectively of U. S. Patent No. 6,554,133, since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: A point-of-purchase display and method of packaging heterogeneous electronic devices as set forth in the earlier patent.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

12. Claims 11 and 15 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,554,133 in view of Flanagan et al. (6,050,419). Kropf et al. disclose a computer system packaged in an individual container. Flanagan et al. disclose a method of shipping individual containers on a pallet by stacking individual containers on a pallet. To employ the method of Flanagan et al. to ship the containers of Kropf et al. would have been obvious in order to collectively ship plural similar containers, as suggested by Flanagan et al.. The exact array numerical size and height would have been an obvious matter of choice and degree, not providing any new and unexpected result from the dimensioning.

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shown are analogous packaging arrangements.
